FOREWORD

We are indebted to the Australian Research Grants Committee for their generous financial support of this project, and to our own University for assistance with typing costs. Our thanks too to M.A. Hardcastle and R.G. Forzin, who served as our research assistants, and to Susan A. Stephens for her many useful editorial suggestions.

INTRODUCTION

Our purpose in this Register is to list all persons living in the Oxyrhynchite nome between 30 BC and 96, that is roughly the first century of Roman rule in Egypt. We hope that this will assist in the study of such matters as Roman exploitation of Egypt at a local level, social mobility and class composition, and the identification of further archives among hitherto scattered documents.

The data base comprises all texts dated between 70 BC and 140, known or likely to have come from the Oxyrhynchite or to refer to persons from there. This ensures coverage of those who may still have been alive as grandparents in 30 BC, or who were alive as children in 96. Also included are some texts from a later date where these refer to persons alive within the period covered by the Register. An index of Texts cited by Date is given after the index of Texts Cited.

We have only been able to take limited account of papyri published after 1977.¹ We have however included relevant material from P. Genov. II, P. Köln II, and P. Oxy. XLVI as well as some documents published singly and not yet collected in SB.

For the sake of completeness, we have included the demotic ostraca from Oxyrhynchus,² although at the time of writing there does not seem to be any overlap between the persons who appear in the demotic ostraca and those in the Greek papyri. We adopt the commonest Hellenised equivalent of the demotic name where one exists and include the name in the main Register. Names with no apparent equivalent in Greek are listed separately after the main Register.

The primary criterion for inclusion in the Register is a connection with the Oxyrhynchite. Accordingly we list local officials including strategi and royal scribes, but exclude officials usually resident in Alexandria or elsewhere. Similarly, Oxyrhynchites temporarily absent in other cities or nomes are included, but not those from elsewhere staying in the Oxyrhynchite, unless they are outsiders who have married into Oxyrhynchite families and so may be regarded as permanently resident there. As is often the case with works of this type, a small residue of examples has defied categorisation and we apologise for any apparent inconsistencies.

- 1 The following editions published from 1978 onwards, which were available to us, contain no material relevant to the Register: P.Cair.Mich.359; P.Coll.Hombert; P.Landlisten; P.Lett.Carlini; P.Laur.III; P.Amst.I; P.Lugd.Bat.XX.
2. For publication details see index of Texts Cited. The latest series of OD Pisa to be published by E. Bresciani et al., SCO 27 (1977) 13-78, reached us too late for inclusion in the Register.
